

TWINBROOK FARM

(WORTHINGTON)

RINGVILLE, P. O.

MASS.

Oct 29. 22

Dear Clarke:

I have yours as to my article. It was published way back in the "Elec World" - which I have not got up here, but I should say within a year or so of the removal to Schenectady - Dec 1886. So it would probably be around 1887 or 1888.

There was a more elaborate article - "Edison is" - embracing all Edison Genl Elec. Activities, some 20 pp., in the "Elec Engineer" Aug 12, 1891. Of that I have a very handsome reprint here which I would be glad to loan

you. I guess you can find both in the excellent E.R.
library at Scheney.

The second article states
that when the works were taken from Goerck & Co. there were 300 ^{O.K. by the article} employees. Remember that in E.R. article speaks of 700 <sup>a little more 775 by article</sup> at Scheney. The 'E.R.' article - Aug 10, 1907 says there were then 3200 ^{O.K. by the article} names on the payroll - so that Scheney
even before the great consolidation
had already struck its gait.

I am off to N.Y. in the morning, and shall hardly be back before Thursday. I can be reached at the N.E. Sq. and the Engineers Club. My "Forty years" is just out. I do hope you will like it.

Ever yours truly
T. Martin